Quick Action And Heroism of Local Firemen Saves Block
From Flames—Firemen Also Squelch a Fire In Basement of Building at 407 McKean

The quick action and heroic work of the Charleroi firemen probably saved the entire business block in McKean avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets, west side of the street, this morning, from flames, when, at 4 o'clock, they were aroused from their beds to the small confectionery store conducted by H. S. Hallak of this place, which was, on their arrival an entire mass of flames. The fire, it is thought, was caused from a gas stove that had been left burning and during the night the pressure had increased, shooting the flames far out of the stove until it ignited the store fixtures. The building, which was a small one-story frame structure, is owned by Emanuel Meli, who also owns the two adjoining frame buildings. The fire was discovered by the Meli family, who immediately sent in an alarm. The flames made rapid headway and it was feared that the entire section would be swept by the blaze. However, the firemen worked vigorously putting a number of streams of water on the fire. The store was a total loss, being completely gutted, as well as the stock. The adjoining building was damaged to a small extent. The loss is estimated at about $1,500. Frank E. Oates served coffee and sandwiches to the firemen.

The firemen were also summoned by an alarm of fire which proved to be in the basement of the two-story brick building at 407 McKean avenue, and owned by Mrs. Antonio Anst. This fire occurred yesterday morning at 9:45 o'clock. The loss was infinitesimal. Its origin is shrouded in mystery.

Success Attendant On "Book Day" At The Schools Of Speers

"Book Day" was held at the public schools of Speers on Friday afternoon. There were a large number of visitors present. Many books were presented to the school. As a feature of entertainment for the visitors an old-fashioned "spelling match" was held, all the pupils and visitors participating in it. The captains elected were Mrs. Margaret Dunkerly and Mrs. Mary Miller. Mrs. Miller and her helpers defeated their opponents. The match was won by a fourth grade boy, John Vetter.

Ladder Collapses and Precipitates Firemen Into Burning Oil Tank

AGED 95 YEARS

James Harris, 95 years old, born at Sudley, Eng., February 1, 1829, died at the home of his niece, Mrs. B. F. Crawford at Allenport, yesterday afternoon at 4:25 o'clock. Announcement of the funeral services will be made probably, in Tuesday's issue of the Mail.

Mr. Harris, who was one of the oldest men in this section of the country, and probably Allenport's oldest resident, was the son of John and Susannah Harris, and came to this country upwards of 50 years ago. For a number of years he was employed by the Republic Iron Works at Pittsburgh, but had not been engaged in active labor for a period of 26 years, during which time he made his home with Mrs. Crawford. There survive his death, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Ezra Riley, Berriens Springs, Mich., nieces; his nephews, James Harris, Jr., Hamilton, Ont., Oliver Harris, Warren, O., Harold Harris, Woodlawn, W. R. Harris, Pittsburgh.

Dress Making, Dorothy Mae Shoppe, Room 9, Majestic Building. 174eod

Pittsburgh, January 21.—(United Press).—Seven blackened charred bodies of firemen were removed from the draining tank of crude oil today of the Atlantic Refining Company plant of the Standard Oil Company.

While several hundred firemen and volunteers fought to keep the blaze from spreading to other tanks and buildings inside the great yard, a group of heroic men rescued the bodies from the manholes of the bottom of the tank.

Their faces and hands were blackened and cracked by the intense heat. The rescuers worked untiringly until all the bodies had been removed.

The seven firemen fell into a 10,000 barrel tank of blazing oil, when the ladder on which they were fighting the fire, collapsed.

The fire started with an explosion early today that rocked the Lawrenceville district for blocks. Great clouds of dense black smoke poured from the tank and settled like a pall over that part of Pittsburgh.

Heroic rescues, spectacular and dramatic, marked the work of the fire fighters. It was a scene of ghastly impression as the men battled against the flaming oil, to endeavor to save ten surrounding tanks from catching fire.

The blazing tank was located in the midst of ten other tanks, all of 10,000 barrels capacity, and was joined to a cistern tank only a few yards away.

Several women, wives of fire fighters, congregated in the oil yards, after they learned some of the firemen had been killed, many of them weeping and screaming. The oil company guard denied them admission along with newspaper men and others who sought to go inside, and it was with some difficulty that the women were quieted.

Hospital ambulances, police patrols and scores of nurses rushed to the scene of the fire to bring first aid to the firemen.

The fire spread to a three-story brick building in the yard and added new danger to the adjoining plant where the distillates were kept.

Machinery crumpled, windows crashed with the intense heat and telephone and electrical lines were rendered useless as the fire raged.

Streams of water were played upon all the buildings and tanks in the yard. Coatings of ice formed immediately and presented an odd contrast with the melting pot of fire shooting smoke and flames only a short distance away.

Dry Tavern Woman Is Hurt By An Auto

Mrs. Samuel Bonnell, aged 54 years, of Dry Tavern, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when struck by a speeding automobile just off the Jefferson-Rices Landing concrete road.

Mrs. Bonnell was standing by the side of the road talking to her son, when a car on the way from Jefferson to Rices Landing came along at a high rate of speed. Just as it reached the spot where Mrs. Bonnell was standing the car skidded off the road, striking her and knocking her heavily to the ground. She sustained the fracture of several ribs and severe bruises. She was at once taken to her home, where in addition to her injuries, she is suffering much from the shock.

The driver of the car, which bore a Pennsylvania 1924 license No. 223-232 stopped for a moment after hitting Mrs. Bonnell and then sped away before his identity could be established. The number of the car has been reported to the state police and an effort will be made to apprehend the driver.

SPEEDING MOTORIST KILLS YOUNG BOY

While on his way to the grocery store with a wagon to do the Sunday shopping for his mother, Tillen Hammer, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hammer, of Fairhope, was struck and instantly killed Saturday night at 9 o'clock by a passing speeding motorist, whose identity is unknown. The machine was being driven at a very rapid rate of speed from Belle Vernon to Fayette City. The boy received a broken neck, his back broken in two places and the jugular vein cut, causing instant death. Tillen was the oldest of three children.

The state police were commissioned on the case and have made ten arrests on suspicion. The body of the lad will be taken to their respective homes in the hope that a confession will be wrung from the guilty party. The tracks of the boy's wagon have confirmed the fact that he was on the right side of the road, and far enough over to be out of the way of passing machines. The accident was witnessed by residents of Fairhope, a man and woman, who were looking out of the window of their home at the time and the woman was remarking about the speed of the driver when the machine struck down the lad. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon. The boy's father is employed as a brakeman in the Pittsburgh Steel Company plant at Monessen.

CONFIRMS CLASS

In his first visitation to Charleroi, Rt. Rev. Alexander Mann, D. D., L. D., bishop of the Episcopal church of the Pittsburgh diocese, addressed a capacity audience in St. Mary's church, Lookout avenue and Sixth street, yesterday morning, in a sermon that was exceedingly interesting and impressive. Rev. Sidney H. Dixon, rector of the local parish, conducted morning prayer and presented a class of five boys for confirmation. The bishop was pleased with the class, stating that it was very unusual to have a class of this kind presented, in that there were no girls and according to custom and following precedents the girls usually outnumbered the boys. Those presented were: Henry and Norman Turnbull, Alfred Wildman, William Sutherland and Brant Enos. The services were brought to a close by the bishop.

ANOTHER PRETENDER TO THE THRONE

Despite the fact that there is no throne France continues to have her Pretenders. Here is Prince Louis De Bourbon, snapped in Rome on the occasion of his recent interview with the Pope. He claims to be the grandson of King Louis XVII and by some miracle, escaped the horrors of that day. Louis XVII lived in Delft, Holland, under an assumed name, dying there. The Holland Government has a record of his death and the fact that royal honors were accorded him at his death, and recognized the right of his sons and grandchildren to be called the Prince of the Bourbons.

STEEL CARPET TACK TAKEN FROM LUNG

Philadelphia, Jan. 21 — (United Press).—Cletus Moore, eight months old son of a St. Louis laborer, is lying in a crib at the University hospital today recovering from an operation which removed a steel carpet tack, a quarter of an inch long, from his lung.

Dr. Chevalier Jackson, world famous surgeon, performed the operation yesterday in less than five minutes. Unless unexpected complications develop, the infant will be able to leave the hospital in three days.

Dr. Jackson originally intended to remove the tack today but attending physicians found that so much pus was being formed from the tack's presence in the lung immediate action was necessary.

Cletus is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Moore, of St. Louis. The father is a laborer and earns $19.25 a week. The mother was forced to remain home to care for her six other children when the infant was brought here.

A month ago Cletus swallowed the tack, he became ill and was taken to the St. Louis City hospital. Missouri physicians feared to make the attempt to save the baby's life, so delicate and intricate is the operation.

It was agreed that only one man in the United States—Dr. Chevalier Jackson—could prevent the tack from cutting the baby's death.

As the father could not afford to send his son here a church organization furnished the train fare. Mrs. Lela Parrish, assistant superintendent of nurses at the St. Louis City Hospital, volunteered to bring the child half way across the continent. Dr. Jackson agreed to perform the operation without fee.

The race of more than a thousand miles against death has been won by Cletus. Wednesday or Thursday he will start back home, in charge of Mrs. Parrish.

Dr. Jackson performed the delicate operation with the bronchoscope, assisted by Drs. Gabriel Tucker and Louis Clerf. The bronchoscope, his own invention, is an electrically lighted tube which illuminates the lung cavity and enables him to locate the foreign object. Forceps, which operate within the tube, was used to extract the tack.

Cletus took no anaesthetic and fell asleep immediately afterward. Today he awoke, apparently well, unaware of the ordeal through which he had passed.

J. T. HEFFRAN IS WORKING FOR SURVEY

Apologies of the program for primary highway building given out by the State Highway Department at Harrisburg is one piece of road to be reconstructed that means a great deal to Charleroi. Hon. James T. Heffran informs us that Route 118, the Bentleyville road, will be reconstructed for three miles, beginning at the end of the brick street at the borough line which will take it to about Colvin's hill; the entire cost of this will be paid by the State.

The State program for secondary highways, Mr. Heffran informs us, has not yet been given out. The State Highway Department has sent out to the county commissioners of all the counties of the State, a form to be filled out, in which the county commissioners are asked to express their preference for building of secondary roads to be paid for out of the bond issue which was approved at the last election, on a 50-50 basis. The Washington County commissioners have already told the Highway department that the highway to Coal Center, from Stockdale, known as Route No. 268, must come first so far as the Washington County commissioners are concerned.

Mr. Heffran is working hard to have the State Highway department authorize a survey on this road, and believes that it will only be a matter of a short time now, until a constructive survey is authorized.

BLAZE EARLY TODAY

CUTS LOCAL STORE

damage was caused by water and smoke.

The first floor of the structure is occupied by C. Ruttenberg, who conducts a Ladies' Ready-to-Wear department establishment, and Mrs. Anast and her two children, and Mr. and Mrs. George Bross and daughter live on the second floor. Mr. Bross made discovery of the blaze, as he was getting ready to go to church. He immediately sent in an alarm and got the occupants of the structure out of the building and to the home of friends. Mrs. Anast was overcome by the shock incident to the fire and required medical attention.

Fire at 4 o'clock yesterday morning destroyed one of the new unoccupied buildings erected at Garver Hill near Monaca, by the National Mining company, causing a loss of between $4,000 and $5,000.

Timely arrival of the Monaca fire department on the scene and the fact that the wind was blowing in the right direction prevented a row of 20 residences from being destroyed. The burned building was on one end of the row and the wind carried the flames in the opposite direction from the dwelling next to it.

The origin of the flames is not known. The fire is made the more mysterious through the fact that the building was not occupied.

TRUCK HAS A LITTLE FUN OF ITS OWN ACCORD

A large truck of the Quality Gas and Oil company of Speers took a little fun of its own accord today at noon, when the driver left it parked on Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue. The brake undoubtedly slipped, or the wheels kicked out from the curb, and the truck started down Fifth street. What might have proved a fatal and disastrous journey, however, was abruptly ended when the truck turned in at the curb in front of Berryman's store, and went up over the curb, stopping just before it crashed into the display windows.

Church Has Its Largest Sunday School

Yesterday the First Baptist church folk enjoyed the privilege of seeing the largest Sunday school in the history of the church; as the previous largest number that ever attended the school at one time was 105, and since that time the school began to diminish by some going away, some having died, some quit, and other reasons, until, about fourteen months ago, when the new pastor came, he found about fifteen scholars left. Since then the school has taken on new life; new teachers have been elected, and officers installed, and everybody is on edge, and working hard. Interest is keen, and yesterday showed the results of a little over a year's work. While some were sick, others were working in the factories, some away from home, yesterday the school went far over the top, and more are expected next Sunday.

The church in general has made great advancement the past year. Hundreds of dollars have been paid on an old debt, and spiritually it is progressing and taking on new life, and many have been added to the church by baptism; also by letter, and all who are without a church home are invited.

The church is the greatest institution in the world under one head, which is Christ Jesus the Lord. It pays a greater interest on your life than any other organization in the world for says Jesus "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his soul; or what will a man give in exchange for his soul?" There is a time for everything.
